

JUNIOR RANGERS

Go play OUTSIDE!

Playing outside is the best part of being a kid. You can run, jump and climb, and it doesn't matter if you get a bit dirty doing it. Here are some great games to play outdoors.

On top of the world – climb to the highest point you can and see the world from a bird's-eye view. Can you see anything new? Make a bird call to see if anyone answers.

Under and over – find five things you can crawl under, and five you can jump over. Duck under a park sign, over the path, under a tree branch, what else can you find?

Treasure hunt – bush treasures are the most precious of them all. See if you can spot all the items on Wildlife Detective page, or if you're down the beach, try spot the items on a Beachcomb.

Shape search – find letters, shapes and patterns in the bush. Can you make a picture or spell your name with natural objects?

I-Spy with my little eye... something beginning with J! – A Junior Ranger playing in the park, just like you. Can you find an object beginning with each letter of your name?

Discovering trees – blindfold a friend and take them on a journey to a special tree. Ask them to touch it, smell it, and even listen to it. Lead them back to where you started and see if they can point out which tree they were at. Swap roles and play again!

Environmental colour match – a healthy bush is full of colour. Grab some paint sample cards or put on some colourful clothing and try matching your colours in the environment.
